Kemtah Delivery Team Welcomes Abel Murrietta

January 19, 2008, Albuquerque, New Mexico

The Kemtah Group, Inc., announces the addition of Abel Murrietta as project manager in our solutions delivery group. Mr. Murrietta will lead an onsite Kemtah team in transitioning a leading national healthcare provider's information technology help desk to a managed services model, based on Kemtah's proprietary service delivery methodology. The client's new Service Desk will focus on first-call resolution, a turnkey incident management process, and a Gold-level service for the executive team. Abel will be leading the transition using the ITIL framework and accomplishing tasks such as tiering the staff, increasing application subject matter experts, and revising the service level agreements to meet the client's business needs.

Mr. Murrietta brings more than 10 years of leadership skills and abilities to the Kemtah delivery group. His work experience includes implementing and managing numerous, successful help desk and call center operations based on industry best practices, including ITIL, and the Scrum and Agile process management methodologies.

"I am delighted to welcome Abel to the Kemtah team," said Geoff Duke, Kemtah vice president of service delivery and corporate strategy. "Abel's experience, meticulous attention to detail, and collaborative leadership style will provide valuable, hands-on knowledge in delivering exceptional, cost-saving solutions to our clients."

Mr. Murrietta joins Kemtah from Autodesk, Inc., in northern California. He will be based in Kemtah's Albuquerque, New Mexico, corporate office.
